“As we transform to become a more consumer-focused organization, Scott's background as a senior strategist with experience in creating new models and facilitating partnerships will position Banner for success,” said Fine.

Nordlund has broad experience in identifying and executing innovative business growth strategies for major health care organizations across the country. He most recently served as executive vice president of Partnership, Growth and Innovation for Select Medical Corp., a national network of specialty hospitals, outpatient rehabilitation clinics and occupational health centers.

Prior to that, he was Trinity Health's chief strategy and business development officer where he led the development and execution of Trinity's vision and strategy, innovation, corporate marketing and consumer engagement activities. Before joining Trinity Health, Nordlund served as the senior vice president for Strategic Growth, Network and New Venture Development at Dignity Health where he was responsible for all joint venture and acquisition work. He also held senior leadership positions at BJC Health System in St. Louis and Baxter Healthcare in Chicago.

Nordlund holds a bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Illinois and two master's degrees (Business Administration and Health Services Administration) from the University of Michigan.
