

Greeley, Colo., working to change the face of medicine

The state's only enrollment site for All of Us Research Program celebrates one year

GREELEY, Colo. (Feb. 5, 2020) – North Colorado Medical Center, the first and only site in Colorado enrolling volunteers to the national All of Us Research Program, is celebrating the first anniversary of its launch. Since its opening in February last year, NCMC has enrolled nearly 500 participants into the program and is inviting the community to celebrate the milestone. The anniversary event will be 3 p.m. Feb. 18 in the hospital auditorium, 1801 16th St. in Greeley.

Banner Health and the University of Arizona Health Sciences are partners in the effort, known as the UA-Banner Health All of Us Research Program. The overall goal of the All of Us Research Program is to enroll 1 million or more volunteers living in the United States to contribute their health data over many years to improve health outcomes, fuel the development of new treatments for disease and catalyze a new era of data-based and more precise preventative care and medical treatment.

Join the program team in celebrating the first year of the All of Us Research Program at North Colorado Medical Center. The event will provide program updates from Project Manager of the UA – Banner Health All of Us Research Program Britton Carter, question and answer session from the program team and refreshments. The All of Us Research Program at the UA and Banner Health is funded by NIH Award OT2OD026549.

“All of Us” is a registered service mark of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS).
